Dear Charlie: A line or two

Addressed to you

As a vote of thanks

For a case of fruit

Which you did give

And which can be seen

Mid silk and glass

By those who pass

Where merry lass

Deals out the mail

And when the dance

On festive eve

Brings forth the crowd

To dip and slide

At Praetorian ball

These gifts will be Given away and he

Who wins this prize

Will think of you

As we all do

As man of generous heart.

Arnold Sues Labor Organ For Damages

The local labor organ, the News, has a damage suit on its hands, the aftermath of a libel suit in which Editor Norman H. Matson of the News was convicted but who is preparing an appeal.

The damage suit was filed Saturday by Attorney Lee D. Windrem for James P. Arnold, who seeks damages in the sum of $25,000.

The alleged libelous article was printed during the city election campaign, Mr. Arnold being a candidate for city councilman.

Additional Rust News.

Just before the signal was given to start the Forester whist party Tuesday evening, it was decided by a vote to start the tournament with the evening's play, as the inclement weather had kept many of the regular players away the week before, thereby handicapping them a game. Mesdames A. H. Byrd, Schaeffer, and Carling were the lady prize winners of the evening and Messrs. Frank Conlon, Lester Schaeffer and C. F. Kearns carried off the gentlemen's prizes. The evening was concluded with the usual terpsichore. The court orchestra had a new addition in Mrs. L. C. Green of Albany who officiated at the piano.

The Bachelor Girls proved themselves highly entertaining at a supper dance with which they opened the winter season at Davis hall Monday night. The color scheme in the dining room was of a delicate pink and Nile green, which harmonized beautifully with the attractive gowns and pretty complexions of the—girls, of course.

The edibles served received a profusion of compliments from the "sterner sex," encomiums of praise and impromptu eulogies being tendered the young ladies for their culinary accomplishments. The patronesses of the evening were Mesdames Curry, Schwake and Farnum. Prominent in the receiving line were the Misses Lenzen, Curry and Stark.

Bachelor Girls of Rust Entertain

Messrs. Eugene Truax, Clarence Vance, Bert Curry and T. Silva, all of Richmond, voted unanimously with the rest of the merry-makers that the Bachelor Girls are a huge success.

Big Flow of Water For Martinez Supply

In the Shadow.

The many friends of Mrs. Paula Stern, wife of Emanuel Stern, the well known bazaar man at 214 Macdonald avenue, are grieved to learn of the death of this good woman, who passed away at a local hospital Monday, Nov. 15, at 7:30 a. m. Funeral services were held Tuesday from the undertaking parlors of E. A. Wollitz, 1935 Webster street, Oakland. The body was cremated, being the request of deceased. Besides her husband are two children, a boy and girl—Melville and Phyllis, aged 12 and 5 respectively. Mrs. Stern will be missed not only by the dear ones in the home she has vanished from, but by a large number of Richmond and bay city friends to whom she was endeared.

The Terminal extends its heartfelt sympathy to a good neighbor and his little ones in their hour of sorrow.

NOTE—Mr. Stearn desires to thank those who so kindly assisted and extended sympathy in his bereavement, and also for the beautiful floral pieces.

RICHMOND, Cal., Nov. 16.—Editor Terminal: As a patron of our schools, a taxpayer and a workingman of one of the leading trades I would like to know if the Richmond school authorities could not introduce a few valuable points in training that would equip the child with practical and useful knowledge—not necessary technical, but a thorough knowledge of public service.

The child should be taught not only the use of tools in wood and iron and its practical application in building industry and decorative art as is being taught, but under the direction of the city health commissioner the boy or girl, and both are on an equality now, ought to read gas and electric meters and know their construction, be able to connect wires in the household and do household plumbing repairs, heat rivets and do light riveting, wiring, etc.; should know these things so that he could repair or be useful to the household.

In Germany the child knows these things when it reaches the age of twelve, and that is why

One Well Has Capacity of 400 Gallons Per Minute.

The Martinez "water commissioners" have found an abundant supply of water for that city, says the Standard. W. S. Withers has reported that nineteen wells on the Christopher and Bissell ranches are developing an immense flow, one on the Christopher property, near Concord having a capacity of 400 gallons of crystal mountain water per minute, the depth of the well is 160 feet, the water being raised from a depth of 60 feet.

Mr. Withers estimates that the flow of water per minute could be doubled by sinking the pump to the full depth of the well.

The water strata has been traced from Mt. Diablo and the nearby foothills, and Mr. Withers has discovered the convergence of two subterranean streams of pure mountain water which will afford an unlimited supply.

As Richmond has $12,000 in the water fund treasury that is becoming "nervous," it might be economy for the city to take the cue from Martinez, and let her "show us the way," pending the coming of Hetch Hetchy, our ultimate "deliverance."

A Quiet Wedding—Got in the Papers.

It has leaked out that Mr. John Arnivich will be working in double harness in the near future. The wedding date being set for Nov. 25. The bride to be is Miss Stella Dunbar of Phoenix, Arizona. Mr. Dunbar is a Standard Oil employee. They will reside in Richmond after a honeymoon in Ohio.

U. S. BATTLE SHIPS LIMITED AS TO SIZE

Warships Now Planned Largest Which Can Pass Through Panama Canal

Washington.—The new battle cruisers for the United States Navy, plans of which are now in the hands of Secretary Daniels, reach the limit of size which is fixed by the locks of the Panama canal.

Furthermore, it transpired recently that these new ships would have been of greater width—in the light of the discoveries of naval construction from the present war—were it not for the fact that the Panama canal fixes the limit of warship construction for the United States.

From an authoritative source it was learned recently that the new battle cruisers, for which Congress will be asked to appropriate $18,000,000 each this winter, are designed with a length of 800 feet and a beam of 165 feet. The width of the canal locks is just 110 feet.

Consequently these ships could only just squeeze through the Gatun locks, with two and a half feet on each side—just enough for fenders. Bigger warships could not be built and get through the canal.

"In the plans for the new battle cruisers the dimensions of the locks were considered," is the cautious admission made by Rear Admiral David W. Taylor, chief of the bureau of construction, under whose direction the plans were drawn which Secretary Daniels is now considering.

When the canal was planned with locks 110 feet wide and 1000 feet long, the largest warships were but 80 feet wide, and it was confidently asserted warships would never be built too big to go through these locks.

But the war has shattered old theories, and in the light of the war construction of the belligerents—although the exact dimensions of the ships recently laid down by European powers has been kept an official secret—the United States naval constructors would have designed battle cruisers over 800 feet in length, and that would have required a beam too great to get through the locks.

For there is a fixed proportion between length and width in shipbuilding. For the merchant marine, that proportion is one to ten. A merchant ship 900 feet long could get through the locks with ease, for its width would be but ninety feet. But the greatest length possible for a warship that can go through the canal is 800 feet.

The constant increase in size that has been going on from year to year has reached the point where it can go no further—unless the Panama canal locks are rebuilt.

FARMERS WILL FIGHT ALL EIGHT-HOUR LAWS

Protective League Outlines Plans for Year at Its Annual Meeting

San Francisco.—At the annual meeting of the Farmers' Protective League of California, held at the headquarters here, the following officers and directors were elected for the coming year:

President, F. B. McKinnon, Sacramento; first vice-president, L. E. Graham, San Jose; second vice-president, C. C. Teague, Santa Paula; directors: George H. Cutter, Sacramento; G. H. Hecke, Woodland; Kent S. Knowlton, Bakersfield; C. A. Howell, Jr., Petaluma; F. A. Hutton, Dixon; C. N. Hawkins, Hollister; B. F. Walton, Yuba City; secretary and manager, Arthur Dunn.

The following resolution was adopted unanimously:

"Moved, That the organization be pledged to use every honorable endeavor to secure the election to the Legislature of men who are friendly to the agricultural interests of the State."

Among the measures to be worked for will be a bill creating a department of agriculture in California by consolidating about fourteen existing departments and commissions which at present are performing similar duties in many instances.

Although defeated at the last amendment election, another rural credits amendment will be advocated, and efforts made to educate the electorate residing in cities as to the purpose of the measure.

All efforts of organized labor to force a universal eight-hour law on California will be opposed vigorously. Organization of league branches is going on in several counties. Some of the branches are saving money for their membership by purchasing commodities at wholesale rates.

Louise Thullier, a school teacher, and Louis Severin, a chemist.

The statement also says that out of 507 passengers and crew of the Ancona, only 229 were saved.

The Gary (Ind.) plant of the Illinois Steel Company is to be enlarged at a cost of $7,500,000, according to an official announcement made public by Chairman Elbert H. Gary of the U. S. For twenty years he has been known as George Shima, the Potato King of California. As a matter of fact that is not his name at all. His name is Kasel Ushijima, and recently he received word that he had been decorated by the Emperor of Japan. Shima was selected as the most successful Japanese in California and has been decorated with the fifth class of the Order of the Rising Sun.

The radio station being built by Wallace Irwin of New York, popular writer of verse and fiction, will be married to Miss Letitia McDonald of Louisville January 5. Miss McDonald, besides being a writer of repute, is one of Louisville's most charming members of society. She has also scored in the dramatic world with short sketches of vaudeville.

The greatest increase in fatal automobile accidents from 1907 to 1913 in the eighteen largest American cities was in Los Angeles, according to a comparison compiled by Frederick Rex, Chicago municipal librarian, which will be the basis of an ordinance regulating traffic here. From five deaths in 1907, fatalities in Los Angeles rose to sixty-nine in 1913, an increase of 1280 per cent. New Orleans was second, increasing from one to twelve, an increase of 1100 per cent.

CHARGES AGAINST KERN PROSECUTOR

County Bar Association Takes Action to Oust District Attorney McGowan

San Francisco.—An accusation and petition for disbarment was filed in the State Supreme Court November 11 against Barclay McGowan, District Attorney of Kern county, by the Kern County Bar Association.

In the petition McGowan is accused of unprofessional conduct while acting as District Attorney of Kern county in the case of E. W. McCutchen, charged with a grave offense against Elmo Thompson, a young girl. McGowan is alleged in the petition to have "solicited money to influence him in his conduct of said case."

McGowan was admitted to practice in the California courts in 1914 upon an attorney and counselor's certificate of Nome, Alaska.

Last August an attempt was made to bring about the disbarment of former State Senator E. J. Emmons, who was then practicing law in Kern county. It developed that there were two bar associations in Kern county. McGowan was a member of one association and Emmons member of another.

Bakersfield.—Following the disbarment charges preferred in the Supreme Court of California in San Francisco, District Attorney Barclay McGowan of Kern county November 11 characterized the charges as a "frame up" to have him removed from office. He issued the following statement:

"These disbarment proceedings are a desperate attack on the part of the attorneys here to save E. J. Emmons, who was convicted in 1905 while State Senator from Kern county, for soliciting and accepting a bribe in the State Legislature and whose name I am fighting to have stricken from the roll of attorneys in California. Emmons is counsel for Ed. W. M. McCutchen, whom I am now prosecuting on a statutory charge preferred by a fourteen-year-old girl. The alleged charges brought today were investigated for six weeks by the 1915 Kern county Grand Jury, which completely exonerated me, denounced McCutchen's attorney who brought them, and indicted his client.

"Proceedings to disbar Emmons are now pending before the District Court of Appeals of Los Angeles. Briefs filed therein the first of this week are doubtless the immediate instigating cause of this counter attack in the Supreme Court.

"This latest step of political thugery will meet the same rebuke all others have met during the past three years in which the people of Kern county have been fighting for political freedom.

"The charges filed November 11 are a mass of perjury."

SON OF JUDGE CAUGHT AS OPIUM SMUGGLER

Cans Concealed in Auto Muffler Confiscated by Officers at International Border

San Diego.—What Federal officers declare one of the most important opium captures in the history of the illicit traffic, was effected at the American "custom-house" at the international boundary line near Tijuana early last Saturday night, when Rusk Mossholder, son of Judge W. A. Mossholder of this city, was apprehended by Customs Officer Earl Beach with two tins of opium in his possession.

Young Mossholder had concealed the poppy juice in the muffler of his automobile and was in the act of being passed by the Customs officials when Beach noticed a small crack in the muffler. He investigated, gave the muffler a jerk and the two tins of opium rolled out.

Federal officials declare, however, that they are in possession of evidence showing Mossholder succeeded in crossing the boundary line with sixty-two tins of opium, for which he paid $32 a tin in Tijuana. He sold the contraband in San Diego. It is said, at $100 a tin, making a profit of $4216.

Young Mossholder came to the attention of the police and Federal officers on the night of July 31st last, when his companion, Mrs. Elizabeth Rae of Billings, Mont., was robbed of $8000 worth of diamonds by three highwaymen on the Coronado strand, but a few miles south of Tent City.

Redwood City.—That at least three large factories will be built on the Redwood harbor lands in the next year was the burden of a message from Mayor George A. Merrill, read Thursday night, November 11, at the smoker given by the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce.

Sacramento.—Meyer Lissner, an attorney and Progressive leader in Los Angeles, was appointed to succeed Harris Weinstock on the State Industrial Accident Commission by Governor John S. Johnson recently. He will serve out the unexpired term which ends on the first of the year.

Oakland.—While playing in a vacant lot in which was tethered a stallion, Gus Puett, the ten-year-old son of A. J. Puett of 822 Fifty-second avenue, was kicked on the head by the stallion, sustaining injuries from which he died at the Melrose Emergency Hospital last Saturday afternoon.

Bakersfield.—As a result of her injuries received on Thursday night, November 11, while speeding to East Bakersfield on a motorcycle with her husband to view the Liberty Bell, Mrs. Carrie Fausler, wife of an employee at the Standard Oil Company refinery at Watts, died last Saturday morning.

Fresno.—Trial of the oil cases in the Federal Court were postponed November 10 by Judge Robert S. Bean pending the decision of the United States District Court of Appeals in the case of the Government against the Eldora Oil Company. The cases were transferred to Los Angeles to be set after the decision in the other case is rendered.

Dunsmuir.—Mrs. E. Weston of this city has been notified that an uncle in Minneapolis has left her $50,000 in his will. Mrs. Weston has not corresponded with any relatives for years, and hardly remembers the uncle in question. Her husband, who is in the Southern Pacific service, will be transferred to San Francisco shortly.

Stockton.—Robert L. Graham, one of the oldest pioneers of this county and father of County Clerk Eugene D. Graham, died November 9 at his home in this city. His death followed close upon that of his wife, whose companionship he enjoyed for sixty-eight years. He would have been 90 years of age December 27.

Petaluma.—While her mother, Mrs. Elsa Smith, was in San Francisco attending the Exposition, Miss Elsie Smith of this city and William Richardson of Tomales quietly stole a march on their relatives and friends last Friday afternoon and were married in Napa by Rev. W. Richardson of the First M. E. Church.

San Francisco.—Several thousand spectators, attracted by the lurid glare of flames, witnessed a spectacular fire which last Friday night destroyed the Crown Ore Mills, 639 Brannan street, and damaged adjoining structures occupied by the Oliver Chilled Fluid Works and the George H. Croley Poultry Supply Company. The loss is estimated at $10,000. Defective wiring in the Crown Ore Mills is believed to have been the cause of the blaze.

Los Angeles.—Rev. Dr. Phineas F. Breece, who founded twenty years ago the Pentecostal Church of the Nazarene, died at his home here last Saturday, aged 77. Coming here from Iowa in 1883, he was a Methodist pastor until 1895, when, with 100 followers, he established the Church of the Nazarene. At the general assembly at Kansas City a few weeks ago official reports showed 792 churches, with 31,600 members.

RUSS WIN 11-DAY SMASH ON DVINSK

Slavs, in Great Offensive, Drive Teutons Out; Dead Piled High in Trenches

London.—The Russians have opened a general offensive in the Courland and have gained important successes, according to news reaching here November 12. The Germans have been driven from Kammern and Anting, west of Schlock, it is officially announced in Petrograd, and between Riga and Mitau the German first lines have been penetrated.

The repulse of Kammern and Anting came after a terrific battle lasting eleven days, in which great bodies of troops fought at close grips in the vast swamps along the coast.

Not only in the Riga region, but also before the Dvinsk, have the Russians succeeded in pressing the Teutons back. An advance near Illuxt and Pristane is reported by Petrograd, while German efforts to regain the lost positions around the Boersenuende farm have been repulsed with heavy losses. Piles of German dead are also said to be heavy. Russian warships co-operated with the land forces, effectively bombarding the coast positions.

The Russian official statement November 12 says:

In the region of Schlock we have advanced west of Agatz. After a battle of eleven days in the swampy region we have occupied Kammern and Anting. The Germans were thrown back to the west with heavy losses. Some prisoners and four Maxims were taken by us.

In the region of Illuxt heavy fighting continues near Boersenuende farm. During the day we repulsed ten attacks. The Germans left piles of dead before our positions.

In the Dvinsk region we have advanced near Illuxt and Pristane.

West of Rafalovka heavy fighting continues.

'LANKY BOB'S' WIFE TO DEVOTE LIFE TO CHURCH

Will Seek Divorce and Become Evangelist Upon Release From Hospital

Los Angeles.—Released from the Psychopathic Hospital, where she has been a patient for nearly two months, Mrs. Bob Fitzsimmons, wife of the former heavyweight champion, November 12, announced that she will seek a divorce from Fitzsimmons, and will immediately embark upon a new life and career as an evangelist.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons, before her marriage, was Countess Temo Zellin, well known as an opera singer.

"I had never been inside a church until three weeks ago," Mrs. "Bob" said, "but in my trouble of the last few months I have had opportunity to search my soul. I have decided to devote my voice and life to church work."

OREGON AIR RAINS CASH HIDDEN FIFTY YEARS

Charge of Dynamite Near Ashland Uncovered Cache Made Half Century Ago

Ashland, Or.—Workmen employed on the ditch of the Rogue River Canal Company set off a charge of dynamite under a stump last Saturday and immediately the air was filled with dollars and half dollars.

The blast uncovered a lot of money that had apparently been cached there since the early '60s. Most of the coins were of the mintage of the '50s, and when the fall of coin began there was a wild scramble for it. The cache contained about $500, according to some. Others placed the amount as high as $2500. Some Spanish coins were found among the United States coins.

The Yolanda II, a hydroplane drawing five inches of water and driven upwards of forty miles an hour by two air propellers, is in New York awaiting shipment to Bogota, Columbia, where she will be used to carry the mails and government officials down the capital and the coast, 600 miles. The boat was built at the direction of Gonzalo Mejia, a Colombian, and her light draft is made necessary by the shallow waters of the Magdalena river.

Colonel Heussler, a Swiss military statistician, calculates the total losses in killed in the present war at 5,000,000.

CROWD SEES YACHT BURN; ALL SAVED

Four Well Known Women Are Rescued From Vessel Off the Exposition

San Francisco.—The lives of four women well known in bay cities society were endangered, and one man was painfully burned last Sunday when the palatial $6000 cruising yacht Pilgrim of F. A. Hyde, wealthy land owner of Oakland, caught fire and burned to the water's edge in the bay off the exposition marina.

Fifty thousand people massed along the water front watching Art Smith fly in his biplane, saw the rescue of Hyde and his party from the burning yacht.

The women on board the vessel when it caught fire were: Mrs. Grace B. Calkin, receiver of the United States Land Office in San Francisco; Mrs. Olive Dickinson, 2503 Harrison avenue, Alameda, and her daughter, Miss Susan Dickinson, and Miss Ethel Chambers of Alameda. With them were F. A. Hyde, 2503 Harrison avenue, Alameda; Fred Hubbard, eight years old, the son of Captain I. N. Hubbard of Barmston & Hibber, and grandson of Hyde; H. Millett, 1621 Eighteenth avenue, Oakland.

Millett, who was the engineer of the craft, was burned seriously about the right arm and hand and left hand.

The cause of the fire is unknown. It is believed, however, by Hyde that leaking gasoline became ignited in some way. When the flames burst from the engine room into the cockpit, where Hyde was at the wheel and the rest of the party were sitting, they dropped off to the tender of the craft and were rescued by the Toyland, a yacht belonging to Don Lee.

Millett jumped overboard to escape the flames and was picked up by the Toyland almost exhausted.

BOOKER WASHINGTON DIES AT TUSKEGEE

Realizing End Is Near, Noted Negro Educator Takes Trip So as to Die in South

Tuskegee, Ala.—Booker T. Washington, foremost teacher and leader of the negro race, died early last Saturday at his home here, near the Tuskegee Institute, of which he was founder and president. Hardening of the arteries following a nervous breakdown caused death four hours after Dr. Washington arrived from New York.

Although he had been in failing health for several months, the negro leader's condition became serious only three weeks ago. Mrs. "Bob" said, "but in my trouble of the last few months I have had opportunity to search my soul. I have decided to devote my voice and life to church work."

Accompanied by his wife, his secretary and a physician, Dr. Washington left New York for Tuskegee at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, November 12. He reached home last Saturday night and died at 4:40 o'clock Sunday morning. His last public appearance was at the national conference of Congregational churches in New York, where he delivered a lecture October 25th.

A widow, three children and four grandchildren survive John H. Washington, a brother, is superintendent of industries at Tuskegee Institute.

The funeral was held at Tuskegee Institute Wednesday morning. Dr. Washington was born in slavery near Hales Ford, Va., in 1857 or 1858. After the emancipation of his race, he moved with his family to West Virginia. In 1881 he organized the Industrial School for Negroes at Tuskegee, to which he devoted most of his attention during the remaining years of his life.

The Institute started in a rented shanty church, and today it owns 3500 acres of land in Alabama and has nearly 100 buildings, valued at $500,000.

In addition to his prominence as an educator, Dr. Washington gained considerable fame as an author. An honorary degree of master of arts was conferred upon him by Harvard University in 1896 and in 1901 he was given an honorary degree of doctor of laws by Dartmouth College.

MOROSE MAN LOSES FRIENDS

Serious Error Is the Habit of Taking Offense When Nothing of the Kind Is Intended.

Some persons are always in an uncomfortable frame of mind if not down-right unhappy. And this even when there is not any real cause for unhappiness or grief, but when small offenses or negligences to which no second thought should be given are magnified. The more one allows his mind to dwell on these things, the greater he finds them. He views himself as being always in the right, and recounts the favors he has bestowed. These so occupy him he forgets favors received. With this disposition, a man seldom stops at nursing his wrong thoughts in his own mind. He talks of them to others, presenting the character of one with whom he is offended in a wrong light, thereby doing an injustice. He is so filled with bitter thought of his grievance that his gloomy face and dismal tone cast gloom on those about him. He becomes so morose that his company is disagreeable. Others, observing his disposition to take offense quickly, feel that it may be their turn next to irritate him. One cannot enjoy freedom of conversation when someone is watching for slights. How much better it would be in the first place to say, "He meant no offense," or "Perhaps he has troubles of his own that make him negligent." Better first look fairly at one's own conduct and see if every word or every act will bear being weighed in the balance. Life is too short and too valuable to be wasted in useless dissension. Think the best and speak the best you can of everyone. You will be the better for it and the happier.—Milwaukee Journal.

PREHISTORIC WORKS IN OHIO

In the State There Are Some Five Thousand Remains of Ancient Civilization.

On the banks of the Scioto, within four miles of Columbus, on its north boundary, stand two conspicuous examples of the work of the prehistoric peoples of that vicinity. One is on the old Fienken farm, on the east bank of the river, and on the west side of the river road, about a mile north of the water pumping station and filtration plant. The other is on the west side of the river, three miles farther north, and is on the west side of the road that skirts the west shore of the river. It is on the Shrum farm.

They are mounds of the same type and of considerable size. They stand on level places, from which they rise abruptly and symmetrically to a height of twenty or twenty-five feet. It must appear to any observer, writes H. J. Galbraith in the Columbus Dispatch, that they are artificial and not natural mounds. The owners of the properties have long placed high values on them and have not been disposed to permit them to be opened. As a matter of fact scientific archeologists are not anxious to explore these mounds, for, while they admire them as examples of the work of the ancient inhabitants here, they know from experience in exploring such earthworks that it is extremely unlikely that they would yield anything worth the time and labor it would take to make the explorations.

There are several less conspicuous mounds in the county that Doctor Mills, the curator of the museum at Ohio State university, would prefer to open, mounds that the general public would lightly regard, if indeed they would recognize them as the work of prehistoric peoples at all. There is a mound of this kind on the Oentangy river near Worthington that is hardly known at all to the general public that Doctor Mills has been watching for some time. "I know that mound would yield a rich store of treasures," said he. "There isn't any sort of doubt about it, but I feel sure that anyone who would explore the two Scioto mounds would get little for his pains."

Counting them all, big and little, there are probably 150 earthworks of these ancient peoples within the borders of Franklin county, and five or six thousand in the state of Ohio. No other state in the Union is richer in the evidences of a prehistoric civilization than the Buckeye state is.

Real Cold.

An American and a Scotsman were discussing the cold experienced in winter in the north of Scotland.

"Why, it's nothing at all compared to the cold weather we have in the States," said the American. "I can recollect one winter when a sheep, jumping from a hillside into a field, became suddenly frozen on the way, and stuck in the air like a mass of ice."

"But, man," exclaimed the Scotsman, "the law of gravity!"

"I know that," replied the tale teller. "But the law of gravity was frozen, too!"—Tit-Bits.

JUST HUMOR

WASTED A LOT OF TOUCHING

Perspiring, Stout Individual Discovers He Has Squandered Energy in Pushing Elevator Buttons.

On the eighth floor of one of Salt Lake's office buildings a stout man raced perspiring the circuit of the signal buttons of the four elevators. "Why touch them all?" asked a thin man.

"Because I want to catch the first car down," answered the stout one determinedly, the while he mopped his brow and waited with a confident expression of having cornered the service. "But the touching of any of the four buttons signals the first elevator going down," protested the cadaverous man. "Is that not right?" he asked the elevator boy as they stepped aboard a car. "The youth answered in the affirmative upon hearing an explanation of the question. "Well," said the stout party, "I've sure been wasting a lot of button touching."—Salt Lake Tribune.

"No; they are too barefaced."

Proof of Innocence.

"That's Green sitting at that table over there, and with a woman not his wife."

"Where?"

"Over there."

"Do you know her?"

"No, but even Green wouldn't dine with such a homely woman unless she were related to him."

Contained No Thought.

"Lifewate says he wanted to get that speech he just now delivered off his chest."

"I don't like slang. Why didn't he say 'off his mind'?"

"Perhaps his remark was more applicable than you suppose. So far as I could judge, his speech was nothing but sound."

Such a Tenderness.

HAD ORIGIN IN DIPLOMACY

Famous Phrase Which is Often Used Has Been Ascribed to a Bishop of Milan.

"When you are in Rome do as Rome does," is one of the proverbs that are so old that their origin is lost in the mists of antiquity.

It is generally asserted, however, that it arose from the following incident, given in one of St. Augustine's epistles: "Augustine was in the habit of dining upon Saturday as upon Sunday, but being puzzled with the different practices then prevailing (for they had begun to fast at Rome on Saturday) he consulted St. Ambrose, the bishop of Milan, on the subject. The answer of the Milan saint was this: 'When I am here I do not fast on Saturday, but when at Rome I do fast on Saturday.'"

Burton, in his "Anatomy of Melancholy," speaks of those persons who are always away in mind and action by their surroundings. When they are at Rome," he says, "they do there as they see done."

Lepers Allowed to Mate.

The Russian Medical council has given permission for lepers to marry with each other, but not with healthy mates. The Lancet remarks that as the birth rate among lepers is very low, the percentage of infant leprosy is only about five per cent. But, it adds, "it is imperative that arrangements be made in advance, and the reasons carefully explained before-hand to the leprosy patients, to remove at once any newly born infant from the custody of its mother, to a distant home, provided by the authorities where the child may grow up without danger of acquiring the infection from its maternal parent."

For leprosy is not believed to be hereditary, but the intimate contact between a mother and a nursing baby is the surest means of conveying the infection.

TOO MANY CHILDREN

are under-size, under-weight with pinched faces and poor blood; they do not complain but appetite lags, they have no ambition and do not progress.

Such children need the rich medicinal nourishment in Scott's Emulsion above everything else; its pure cod liver oil contains nature's own blood-forming, flesh-building fats which quickly show in rosy cheeks, better appetite, firm flesh and sturdy frames.

If your children are languid, tired when rising, catch cold easily or find their studies difficult, give them Scott's Emulsion; it supplies the very food elements that their systems lack.

Scott's Emulsion contains no alcohol and is so good for growing children it's a pity to keep it from them.

Johnny's Hyphen.

A teacher trying to get some small boys to understand the use of the hyphen had written "bird's-nest" upon the blackboard, pointed to the hyphen and asked the boys what the little mark was for. There was a silence for a moment, when up popped Johnny's hand. "Very well, Johnny, you may tell us," said the teacher.

"Sure ma'am, for the bird to roost on," said Johnny.

The Henchman—I understand you have decided to give up politics.

The Boss—Yes, that's right. I've reached the age where a man should begin to lead an honest life.

"No. Strange as it may seem, he really loves outdoors."

BULLET HITS "EARLY BIRD"

Soldier Would Have Escaped Being Wounded by Leaden Missile Had He Been Second Later.

Private Blank was known to all his chums as "the early bird," probably because it was an exact description of the very opposite to what he really was. "The early bird" was always late, the last man to get out of bed at reveille and the last man on parade, and when his regiment sailed for France his chums declared that he was the last into the transport ship and the last out of it.

When his regiment was doing its spell in the trenches "the early bird" was sent for by his officer, and as he was creeping along the trench towards the dugout a stray bullet caught him in the shoulder, just as he was outside his officer's shelter.

After seeing that he wasn't seriously wounded, the officer explained, with a twinkle in his eye, "If you had just been a second earlier you would have missed that."

"I would, sir," returned Private Blank, "or if I had been a second later I would have missed me."—London Tit-Bits.

New Type of Prodigal.

"The people in his home town said he never would amount to anything."

"And now he's rich. I presume he went back and paid off the mortgage on the old home place, or did something of that sort."

"No. This old home place wasn't mortgaged. He went back and demoralized his good old parents by giving them a high-power automobile. Now they are the worst speedsters in town."

He Let It Go.

Fault Finder (in front of dairy restaurant)—I notice the word "dairy" on your new sign is spelled d-i-a-r-y.

Proprietor—I know it is. I was going to have it changed, but the painter convinced me his way of spelling the word was more suggestive.

Fault Finder—More suggestive? Proprietor—Yes; he said it conveyed the idea of putting things down.

A Dire Threat.

"I know a man married to a woman who hasn't a single living relative."

"Fine! He certainly can't have any trouble with her relatives if they are all dead."

"I don't know about that. Every time they have a spat she threatens to visit a spiritualist and call up two or three of the most cantankerous ones."

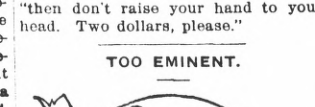

Professional Advice.

"Well, what's the trouble now?" asked the gruff old doctor of a chronic patient.

"Oh, doctor," whined the professional invalid, "I feel such an awful pain in my side every time I raise my hand to my head."

"Huh," grunted the wise M. D., "then don't raise your hand to your head. Two dollars, please."

TOO EMINENT.

Arborologist.

Mr. Jolly—I know what sort of a tree your family tree would be, Miss Jolly.

Miss Jolly (expecting him to say "a peach tree")—Hee! Hee! What sort of a tree, Mr. Jolly?

Mr. Jolly—A nut tree. Ha! Ha!—Judge.

Jimson's Standing.

"Jimson tells me that everybody has their eye on him nowadays."

"Yes. He's what you might call one of the most suspected members of our community."—Buffalo Express.

Others to Blame.

"I'll not put up any longer with your willful extravagance," said Mr. Cobble.

"But it isn't willful," said Mrs. Cobble, on the verge of tears.

"What do you mean by such preposterous language?"

"Simply this. I'm not setting the pace, I'm merely trying to follow it."

Exception to the Rule.

"Remember," said the professor, "that the effect is always preceded by the cause."

"Beg pardon, professor," interrupted the wise student, "but in the case of a man cutting grass with a lawnmower, doesn't the cause follow the effect?"

Pathetic Yearning.

"For seventeen years I've been a straphanger on this road."

"And you have no complaint to make?"

"None in particular, although I have often wished that I could see what the scenery looks like."

At the Eleventh Hour.

The Henchman—I understand you have decided to give up politics.

The Boss—Yes, that's right. I've reached the age where a man should begin to lead an honest life.

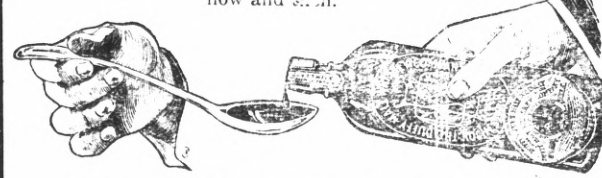

Unusual Case.

"He's very fond of the outdoor life." "I'll bet he's a bookkeeper."

"No. Strange as it may seem, he really loves outdoors."

The Story of the Merchant Prince.

There was an old geezer and he had a lot of sense; He started up a business on a dollar-eighty cents. The dollar for stock and the eighty for an ad Brought him three lovely dollars in a day, by dad!

Well, he bought more goods and a little more space And he played that system with a smile on his face, The customers flocked to his two-by-four And soon he had to hustle for a regular store

Up on the square, where the people pass, He gobbled up a corner that was all plate glass. He fixed up the windows with the best that he had And he told 'em all about it in a half-page ad.

He soon had 'em coming and he never, never quit, And he wouldn't cut down on his ads one bit.

Well, he's kept things humming in the town ever since, And everybody calls him the Merchant Prince.

Some say it's luck, but that's all bunk— Why, he was doing business when the times were punk. People have to purchase and the geezer was wise— For he knew the way to get 'em was to advertise.

—Chicago Hearthstone.

The tramp situation is causing great stress and disturbance in well fed circles as to "cats and sleeps," the "Safety First" contingent of Southern California. Why not go back and correct the evils that produces tramps and hoboes? By cultivating the vacant lots in twelve of our largest cities and planting said lots to "spuds," would eliminate the tramp. Monopoly and the unequal apportionment of land, is no doubt the cause of the tramp congestion in Southern California. The government is now advocating small acreage farms. No more large tracts. Intensified farming is coming. It is here. It means the fair distribution of land to the people, to whom it belongs.

Advertisers of merchandise should get busy now, while their stocks are fresh and new. Then there will be no congestion nor panics at the last hour.
